Such taxation is too burdensome to be long endured. The mere payment of taxes takes away a considerable portion of every man's income and impoverishes the whole community. And for what? Why merely for the sake of reducing the national debt, which may as well be paid by posterity, for whose benefit it was incurred, as the present generation. It stands to reason that excessive taxes tion and as a check upon the productive. acts upon immigration. Hence we have already seen of late large numbers of newly arrived Irish immigrants returning to the place from whence they came, simply because they sould find no work to do, the labor market being overstocked."

RIVER NEWS

ARRIVED. Dec. 38.-Nashville, from Cairo. J. L. Graham, Louisville, DEPARTED. Rebocca, for Cincinnati LEAVING TO-DAY. Nashville, for Cairo.

The river is falling slowly; six feet of water or Harpeth shoals. Weather cleared off last night, and strong northwest wind chilled the atmosphere very sensible. The Naseville, which leaves at i.r. u. to-day, brought up 2.677 sacks corn, 129 barrels flour, and | City and Country Merc ants The little Graham is in port from Louisville aving brought around an assorted cargo. The A. L. Baker is loading for a trip up the iver, and has already on board a consid mount of freight. Haston her off. The Palestine was advertised to depart from ouisville for this port on the 20th. The Emma Floyd left that port for Nashville Monday, and is due to-day. A coal boat tide was prevailing in the Ohio at Pittsbarg Monday. The New Albany Ledger of Monday evening

"The Argonaut, No. 2, sunk on Wednesday ast, lies in a very perilous condition, her head high up on the rocks, and her stern down, and the water up to the cabin floor. A submarine sout is along side of her," The Ida Rees has arrived at Cincinnati from Pittsburg, reshipped considerable freight Saturlay for Nushville and New Orleans. A new steamer, with steel hollers, is thus decribed by the St, Louis Republican : "Capt. Ben. Johnson is now building, at our wharf, a new steamboat for the Missouri river trade, which is designed to be, when completed, one of the best boats over built for the trade. The hull, built at Metropolis, Illinois, is two hupdred and forly five feet in length, thirty-six feet beam, with a depth of hold of six feet, and is double bolted and fastened throughout. The machinery will consist of three boilers, each forty-four inches diameter, twenty-four feet long, with six flues. These boilers are made of Benginer steel, the first, we believe, of the kind ever constructed for a steamboat in the Western waters. John E. Oxley & Co., are building the bollers. The engines, doctor, freight hoister, steam capstan and shafts, will be from the Broadway foundry and machine shop of Collins & Hal-
